

J.English@trialgraphix.com

J.D. English

Technology Consultant

J.D. English is a Technology Consultant with TrialGraphix based in the Chicago office. Spending more than 10 years in the litigation consulting field, he has a breadth of experience in writing, graphic design, exhibit database management, and audio/video special effects editing. He develops presentation solutions for all manner of legal proceedings including technology tutorials, Markman hearings, class certification hearings, mediations, arbitrations, mock trials, jury and bench trials, and regulatory proceedings.

Since 2008, J.D. has supported clients in notable cases such as In re Lehman Brothers; State of Indiana v. IBM Corp.; City of St. Louis v. American Tobacco Co., Inc; United States v BP Exploration & Production, Inc. (Deepwater Horizon); City of Joliet v. Mid-City National Bank of Chicago; Beef Products Inc. v. ABC News, Inc.; Christopher Amann v. CM Punk and Colt Cabana; Emerald Casino v. Kevin Flynn along with several ongoing pharmaceutical manufacturing matters.

Prior to joining TrialGraphix, J.D. was a production coordinator at International Profit Associates, an assistant director at the Jacksonville Regional Economic Development Corporation, and the business and agriculture editor at the Jacksonville Journal-Courier.

J.D. holds a B.A. in Economics from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.