

S.Duval@trialgraphix.com

---

Scott Duval

Technology Consultant

Scott Duval is a Technology Consultant for TrialGraphix with over 23 years in the litigation consulting field. He has supported trial teams before judges, juries and arbitration panels on cases ranging from intellectual property, bankruptcy, environmental, insurance, construction defect and employment matters, among others. Scott has experience in most venues across the country, at both the state and federal level.

Prior to joining TrialGraphix, Scott served as Senior Vice President at a national litigation consulting firm and held several positions during his 21 years there. He has experience in both technology and graphics, having managed on-site support teams as well as consulted on best practices for trial strategy with clients nationwide. Scott's significant experience both in the hot seat, and collaborating on many of the largest litigations in the country enables him to support teams with an attention to detail needed on the most demanding projects.

Scott received his B.A. in Journalism from the University of Florida.