Joe Boxer

Presentation Consultant

Joe Boxer is a Presentation Consultant for TrialGraphix, based in the Chicago office. He has assisted legal teams and expert witnesses in their development and presentation of effective, persuasive visuals that focus on the key elements and themes of their case. Joe also has extensive courtroom experience, allowing him to determine the most effective utilization of courtroom technologies.

Joe began his 20 years in the industry as an artist, specializing in complex illustration and technical patent matters. He then moved into a consulting position and has since worked on over 600 matters in venues around the country and overseas. He has supported teams in all manners of legal proceedings, such as jury trials, jury focus groups, bench trials, Markman hearings, summary judgment hearings, class-certification hearings, environmental board hearings, mediations and corporate presentations. He is also a member of TrialGraphix's international arbitration practice and has extensive experience supporting these matters.

Joe has also presented at approximately 20 CLE events regarding visual presentation and courtroom technologies and assisted on a large international corporate merger held at the EU in Brussels, Belgium.

Notable cases include: Mercexchange LLC v. Ebay, Half.com and Return Buy Inc.; Eolas Technologies v. Microsoft: People of the State of Illinois v. Drew Walter Peterson; Oracle Corporation, Pepper Acquisition Corp. v. Peoplesoft, Inc., et al.; and Ricoh Corporation, et al. v. Pitney Bowes, Inc.

Joe holds a degree in Graphic Design. Prior to moving into the legal presentation industry, Joe worked as a creative director and illustrator for a small publishing firm.
