

M.Heim@trialgraphix.com

Marco Heim

Technology Consultant

Marco Heim is the Director of our Technology Group at TrialGraphix, he is based in the New York City office and still continues to hot seat virtual and in person trials. With over fifteen years of consulting experience, he has worked on more than 500 matters nationwide, including numerous high-profile and mass exposure cases. Marco has worked with many leading law firms on all sorts of matters ranging from: securities, insurance, intellectual property, bankruptcy, entertainment law, civil rights, defective product/product liability, and professional malpractice matters.

Notable cases include: Daiichi Sankyo Company v. MylanPharmaceuticals, Inc.; U.S. Justice Department and New York District Attorney v. Standard Chartered Plc.; In re Flonase Antitrust Litigation; Vivendi Securities Class Action Litigation; Arista Records LLC, et al. v. Lime Wire LLC, et al.; and Novartis Pharmaceuticals Corp et al v. Teva Pharmaceuticals USA Inc.

Prior to joining TrialGraphix, Marco worked for over seven years at a national litigation consulting firm where he oversaw all aspects of trial graphics creation and trial technology. Marco consulted with clients and internal project managers to recommend strategic and appropriate graphics and technology solutions for even the most complex scenarios. Before joining the legal industry, Marco spent several years working in live sports television production and is very accustomed to sitting in the hotseat.

Marco graduated from Felician College with a Business Marketing and Management degree.